In a crash, cars win. Act accordingly.

Pedestrians are at extra risk in crashes — and harder for other drivers to see. So follow these tips to walk smart and own the drive ... er, walk.

Only cross at crosswalks or intersections.

Stay on sidewalks (or walk facing traffic).

Follow signs and signals.

Wait for cars to stop before using a crosswalk.

Look for cars in every direction.

Don't walk while under the influence.

Avoid distractions (like your phone).

Make eye contact with drivers before you cross.

Be visible, especially at night.
